(From the Council Bluffs Nonpareil, January 20.)

The Indian War and the Policy of Government.

Upon this subject we feel a deep interest; from the present threatening aspect of the Indians we may reasonably conclude a most desperate war opens with the opening of spring upon our frontier. It is well understood by those acquainted with the facts, that all the Indians north of the Platte River and east of the Big Horn Mountains, are engaged directly and indirectly in the late depredations and slaughter near Fort Phil. Kearny and Fort Casper. It is also known that these Indians were the treaty Indians, or, at least, all the tribes were represented in the Fort Laramie treaty, and they are the same Indians that aided in carrying on the war in 1863-64 and '65. The Cheyennes—now south of the Platte River—that were at war in '65 on Powder River, have not as yet commenced open hostilities, nor have the bands under Spotted Tail and Big Pibs, now south of Platte; the latter has always been friendly, and will not join in the present war—his influence, however, is limited and his band small; the former may, they are being tampered with, and the northern bands are endeavoring by all means in their power to bring them into the combination, and no doubt will succeed. The question naturally arises who is at fault for these renewed difficulties, after the fair promises and great treaty at Laramie—heralded all over the country as so satisfactory. Officers who have commanded in the Indian country, who have studied and are acquainted with the Indian policy for the last ten years, will tell you—our government—that our vacillating course has done it; the half peace, half war policy, with two separate heads, has at last brought us to a crisis, and lost us all respect with the Indian and all fear of our power.

It is well known that in 1865 great preparations and ample provision was made to chastise the Indians, there being at that time some 15,000 warriors on the north and 10,000 on the south, at war with us. Troops were sent all the way from the Potomac, at great expense; supplies were piled upon the plains for an eighteen months' campaign; columns of troops started out strong enough to accomplish the job—twelve thousand cavalry and infantry were pushed on the plains. General Connor was placed at the head of the columns on north, and General Sanborn at head of the columns on south, both under command of General Dodge. These columns penetrated the Indian country, chastised one or two bands, and met with great difficulties and loss; but they were under leaders who proposed to stay in the country winter and fall—until the question was settled for all time. It did not happen to suit the comorants of the Indian Bureau, Doolittle and his committee came west, stopped the southern columns, proclaimed peace, and went on. The Indians following them up closely, and a week later, attacking posts on southern route, burning and capturing trains and scalping emigrants. The hue and cry raised by him, his Beaurean and his friends throughout the east, caused Government to falter, and just as they had got their expeditions well under way,—the troops nearly on the ground, provisions stored and depots made in Indian country, for the campaign, the order went over the wires to stop war and make peace. Protest after protest went from the officers in the field. General Dodge, who was then in the Powder River country, saw the result of such a course, denounced it and made every effort to stop it, but it was of no avail—the wise-acres of Washington knew better, and overruled the judgment and advice of every officer who had commanded the Indian country or made an Indian campaign. General Dodge, we are told, urged that two thousand men, then in the field under General Conner, be allowed to continue the campaign, agreeing that he would settle the question satisfactorily before another summer; but no attention was paid to the request, the troops were marched back—many of them before reaching their posts on the plains. Runners were sent out to all the tribes and the Indians really "begged" by those to come in; but they were saucy, defiant, boasting of their prowess, and claiming that they had driven us from the country, and defeated us in every fight. After much coaxing, (and after they had horsewhipped some of our messengers and driven them back) they were finally induced to visit Laramie. Only a very few of the most hostile and most numerous tribes answered to the summons, and from December 6th, until the treaty, Government was lavish with its attentions, flattery and presents. Rations were issued to them by the hundreds of thousands, and by some means unknown (of course,) powder, lead and arms, in abundance, found its way into the camps and hands of the Indians.

Two treaties were finally made, one on the Arkansas and one at Fort Laramie. The great object to be obtained by government in the treaty—the opening of the Smoky Hill route to Denver, and new route to Montana—failed. The Indians, or a great portion of them, at both councils defiantly refused to make any such agreement. We do not care what representations were made to government by the Commissioners, we do know that the Indians did not, and have not to this day, agreed to the opening of those routes. Our occupancy and use of them is their excuse for the depredations of the past year, and the commencing of a new war. In fact, during 1866, when it was claimed we were at peace, the Indians had committed more depredations, killed more men, and stolen more stock, than in 1865, when they were at war; and to-day they are better armed and equipped than our own soldiers on the plains—and man to man they are a match for them. Our troops, in fact, are cooped up in their posts half the time without communication with each other, and all the time in fear some of them will be captured; others are being pushed out in mid winter, unacclimated, poorly provided for the trip, and suffering almost death, in order to succor the threatened points. Government reduced the troops at its posts in the spring of 1865 to a purely peace basis, leaving only 2,500 men to take care of 3,500 miles of overland routes, to protect the building of the great national highway to the Pacific, and to hold the Territories of Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Dakota, and Montana, and give confidence to their citizens. The result of this policy is the massacre at Fort Phil. Kearny, the stampede and general insecurity on the plains, resulting finally in a general Indian war, combining all the tribes on the plains east of the mountains.

There is just one way, and only one way, to make a lasting settlement of this question, that is to turn over the entire Indian Bureau to the War Department, kick out all civilian Indian Agents, place 10,000 troops on the plains, under active, competent officers, and let them follow the Indians day and night—summer, fall and winter—until they are whipped, made to sue for peace, respect their word and fear our power. Then, and not until that time, shall we have a lasting peace—one that the West can have confidence in. When this is done let us place all the Indians north of the Platte river, in the country north of the Niobrara river, west of the Missouri and east of the Big Horn Mountains; thus taking them away from all our great overland routes, from daily contention with the emigration, from contact with the white man and all the demoralizing influences that attends him, and places them in a country that for the present we have no use; keep out of the country Indian agents, traders, and make commanding officers of posts adjacent to each tribe the agent for that tribe and country, acting under the orders of the District and Department Commander. Then if any wrong is committed, redress is easy; punishment sure and swift. Officers can be punished and disgraced for peculation, corruption, or any wrong they commit; while now an Indian agent cannot be reached—in fact, he is expected to get rich on $1,500 a year, and is honored for it.

Government, to-day, relieves its District and Department Commanders, under the hue and cry in the East over the Fort Phil. Kearny massacre, when if it turns to its own dispatches, hardly a year old, it will find that they are warned against these very results from its own policy—dictated by, and made to suit the very speculators who are now crying aloud for some victims to cover their shortcomings.

Dispatches tell us that Government is going to wipe out the red man, and avenge our losses; but we have no faith in these promises; one thing can only save us. Sherman is a Lieut. General—has power—and at Washington they may fear to override his advice, as they have that of all commanders before him; the quaker peace policy, the Indian Bureau corruption, backed by Doolittle's raid and personal experience, may not again outweigh the opinions and decisions of the commanders on the plains. If it does not, and the officers on the ground are allowed to go on and troops furnished, then we can and will have a lasting peace. The massacre at Fort Phil. Kearny, with all its horrors, will then not have been without its benefits to the country. It seems the lives of the veteran Fetterman, the brave Grummod, and the intrepid Bingham, were necessary to overcome the baneful influence at work in Washington, and to prove the imbecility of our past mild policy. Let us pray that Washington will not order troops to carry out their policy, which we know from their past record will punish the Indian for his crimes, and give us security in the future, without our committing any outrages or carrying on the war in violation of its laws.

NOVEL USE OF DIAMONDS.—In July, 1864, an apparatus for boring rocks with diamonds was patented in France by Lescot. It was not practicable, but later improvements by Pihet, toward the end of 1866, made it so. As now constructed, it consists of an iron tube, one end of which is attached to a rod serving as a handle, and at the other end is the edge, armed with a series of black diamonds of Siberia, which are set in such a way that by turning the tube by means of a machine, they excavate an angular groove in the rock, and leave in the center a solid cylinder which enters the tube, and is easily broken off and extracted when the boring is finished. Fifteen such machines have already been manufactured; its advantages appear to be that it progresses uniformly however great the hardness of the rock may be; the progress is about three-quarters of an inch per minute, and no doubt may, by further improvements, be considerably increased. The diamonds never wear out; it is known that this is also the case with the glazier's diamonds, and that the black diamond is a variety much harder than any other. It appears also that the expense of boring with a simple machine of this kind is about the same as boring in the old way; however, more labor is turned out; but the great advantage is, that in the same space where, for instance, in the Mount Cenis Tunnel, three borers were attached, eight of these machines may work, requiring not more power to drive them. The expense of excavating tunnels with a single machine of this kind, in hard rock, was found in France to be forty or fifty francs per cubic meter, which corresponds to $6 or $8 per cubic yard.

MR. UNDERDOWN and his party of wreckers are meeting with very good success in Hampton Roads. Part of the Merrimac has been raised, and several of her great guns have been recovered. The party have now turned their attention to the Brandywine, the frigate which was burned at Gasport Navy Yard, in the earliest days of the rebellion. A cannon of eighty thousand pounds weight and twenty-five tons of chain have been brought up, and when the chains are fully adjusted, no doubt is felt that the vessel will be lifted to the surface. There is also a probability that the famous old line-of-battle ship Pennsylvania will soon be brought up. The workmen have already secured her chains, tank and anchor. The Norfolk Virginian says that the party engaged on the last named ship have fished up an anchor of very peculiar construction, and weighing between four and five tons. Machinists pronounce it of British construction, and it was doubtless lost during the Revolutionary war.

"THERE is one thing sure," said Mrs. Partington, "the females of the present generation are a heap more independent than they used to be. Why, I saw a gal go by to-day that I know belonged to the historical class of society, with her dress all tucked up to her knees, her hair all buzzled up like as if she hadn't time to comb it for a week, and one of her grandmother's old caps in an awful crumpled condition on her head. Why, laws, honey, when I was a gal, if any of the fellows come along when I had my clothes on tucked up in that way and back kivered with an old white rag, I would run for dear life and hide out of sight. Well, well, the gals then were innocent, unconfusticated critters; now they are what the French call blazes."

EMERY.—So far as is known, there are but two mines of emery in the world; one at Chester, in Hampden county, Massachusetts, and the other in the classic little island of Naxos, in the Ægean Sea. The latter had been controlled by an English house, and they have always charged their own prices. Some time ago, the Chester Iron Company's property was found to contain emery, which was examined and reported on favorably.

Reconstruction.

As the prospect of an impeachment of the President diminishes, the chance of some sort of a compromise on the vexed and exciting question of reconstruction seems to brighten. The telegraph informs us that prominent representatives of the Southern States have for some time been in Washington consulting with President Johnson, and that some sort of a plan of reconciliation has been agreed upon. It is not improbable that the particular scheme adopted will not be entirely, or perhaps in any manner, acceptable either to Congress or the hot heads of the South. But it is highly probable that it will open the door to consultations and eventual agreements, whereby the South will give security, if not suffrage, to all its citizens. This, as we understand the status of the question, is all that the country absolutely demands, and nothing less will be accepted. Until the South shall make up its mind to do ample and complete justice to the freedmen, cease its persecutions and deprivation of rights, and give evidence of loyalty to the National Government, it must expect to remain out in the cold. Rampant and notorious traitors, who have once sought to disrupt the Nation and overthrow the Government, will not be allowed just at present to take seats in Congress, or manipulate the governments of the lately rebellious States.

This is manifestly the determination of Congress, and the temper of the people as disclosed in the late elections. The sooner, therefore, the Southern people recognize the fact, the better for them and for the country at large. That every interest of the nation, as well commercial and financial as political, requires that the rehabilitation of the late rebel States should be consummated, and all parts of the country represented in Congress, there can be no doubt. But it is equally the duty to see that all incentive or opportunity to a renewal of civil strife should be avoided by preventive and precautionary measures.

Heretofore, the Governors and Legislatures of the Southern States have occupied a decidedly independent and hostile position, rejecting, if not indignantly yet very decidedly, the Constitutional Amendment, and the suggestions of Congress. That they are now disvance propositions or compromise, is something. There is a chance that it will lead to definitive results. That the Southern leaders, notwithstanding a four years war, and the significant results of the late overwhelming elections, do not understand or appreciate the determination and temper of the Northern people, as evident as it is, is remarkable. But it is hoped that the entire absence of all vindictiveness on the part of the North, notwithstanding the railings of mere politicians, will cause the late rebels to open their eyes and be prepared to accept the situation. Whatever may be the fate of the "impartial suffrage" doctrines in Congress, Southern men must make up their minds to do ample and complete justice to the freedmen in the matter of civil rights. If this is not done and proper securities given against any more Secession heresies, the next Congress will not long delay in enforcing by coercive measures, if necessary, possibly the most radical doctrines. For the present, matters appear at Washington to be in abeyance, awaiting the action of the Legislatures of the Southern States. But this condition of affairs cannot long be maintained. Unless some rational plan be agreed upon, the South will be reduced to the Territorial condition, and Congress undertake to manage its internal affairs to suit itself. This is what we deduce from the debates in Congress, and the evidence of the temper of the people as disclosed in the elections, and the newspaper press.

GOLD DUST SHIPMENT.—We are indebted to Mr. J. L. Street, the gentlemanly agent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express in this city, for the following figures of the amount of gold dust shipped over their line from August 11, 1866, to January 25, 1867. During that time there was shipped to Virginia City, M. T., $51,008 43; to the East, $477,493 25; to the West, $25,825 30; and to Salt Lake City, $137,357 28, making a grand total of $640,675 83. The foregoing figures represent, as a general thing, the coin value of the dust, and to get at its real value we think that at least ten per cent. ought to be added, which would make $704,743 33. The highest and lowest shipments were, to the East, $41,751 90; to Salt Lake, $14 62. But the above total falls measurably short of the actual amount which passed over the line; and were we to multiply the above sum by six, we think we might obtain a fair approximation of the amount that went in care of passengers. This would make $4,227,859 98, and would probably not be far wrong. Of the vast amount that went down the Missouri, no correct estimate can be made. There was at one time escorted from this place to Benton, 4,500 pounds of gold dust, making the snug sum of $972,000, while one party is said to have started from here with $200,000, and another with $500,000, we certainly, therefore, are not overstepping the limits of credibility when we say that over $5,000,000 went by the river. Placing it at that sum, we thus have a total of nearly ten millions, which has been shipped from this city and the surrounding districts during the past year. Will somebody figure on the balance of the Territory?—Montana Post.

THE Atchison Champion says: General B. M. Hughes is in town, settling up his affairs preparatory to his departure for Denver, where he intends to pitch his tent for the remainder of his days. We regret to lose this eminent citizen, and heartily congratulate our Colorado friends upon so distinguished an accession. The General is an enthusiastic, untiring and indefatigable worker, and is sure to succeed in all his undertakings. A host of warm friends will follow him with wishes for his everlasting prosperity and happiness wherever he may go.

Cincinnati, February 6.

The Conton Woolen Mills at Covington, Ky., were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $235,000; insured, $170,000.

Washington, February 6.

In the Senate, the Chair submitted a report of the survey for the international canal through the Isthmus of Darien, which was tabled.

Wilson, from the Military Committee, reported a bill providing for the temporary increase of the pay of army officers. It was ordered printed.

On motion of Ross, the President was requested to communicate to the Senate, if not deemed incompatible with the public interest, copies of all correspondence not heretofore communicated with reference to grants made to American citizens, for railroad and telegraph purposes, across the Republic of Mexico.

A bill to amend the Act granting lands to Kansas to aid the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad and telegraph from Fort Riley to Fort Smith, was referred.

Poland introduced a bill fixing the salaries of the Judges of Supreme Courts of Territories at $2,500, from April 1st, 1867. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The bill regulating the tenure of office was called up in the House. An amendment providing that officers shall not be removed except on impeachment, was negatived—17 to 28. So the project goes to a Committee of Conference.

Henderson, of Oregon, introduced a joint resolution for a survey of boundary line between Oregon and Idaho. Referred.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill from the joint Select Committee on Retrenchment, to regulate the Civil service. An amendment was offered, to render ineligible to office those who voluntarily aided or encouraged any insurrection or rebellion against the Government of the United States. On motion of Stevens, the amendment was tabled—72 against 66.

The wife of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, who achieved notoriety some years ago, died to-day.

The Colombian Minister made a formal demand for the release of the steamer R. R. Cuyler. An official investigation into the matter of her seizure is progressing.

Washington, February 6.

Stevens, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported to the House, to-day, a bill providing for the more efficient government of the insurrectionary States. It provides that they shall be divided into military districts, and made subject to military authority. The bill also provides that a commander shall have power, when in his judgment it becomes necessary, to organize military commissions for the trial of murderers, etc. Read twice, and ordered printed.

Honduras advices of the 19th ult., say the Indians were still committing depredations with impunity, although there were 300 or 400 British troops in barracks. Sir Peter Grant had arrived with reinforcements, and had the state of affairs [illegible] Assembly on

The Times' special says the House Committee on Claims propose to give an increase of contract pay to some of the iron clad contractors who are praying for relief, in accordance with the amount of each claim; and in several cases they may refuse to give any relief at all.

General Sheridan has been summoned before the Southern R. R. investigating committee, and not before any other.

The Retrenchment Committee will report, it is understood, that their investigation not only exonerates Mr. Van Dyck, but vindicates his management of the Sub Treasury in New York. The charges were found to be based upon the merest street rumor.

The total Government sales of gold since October, 1866, reaches over $60,000,000.

The Ways and Means Committee have formally decided against reducing the tax upon whisky or manufactured spirits. They have reduced the tax on cigars to two and ten dollars per thousand.

General J. J. Bartlett has been nominated for Minister, resident at Stockholm, vice McGinnis, rejected.

It is said that the Retrenchment Committee will report in favor of abolishing the naval offices at New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore.

A Herald special says the Senate will confirm the nomination of General Dix as Minister to France.

F. W. Seward, who has returned from his secret mission, is engaged on his report. If it does not transpire that we possess the Island of St. Thomas before the 1st of January next, it will be a matter of surprise.

The Lexington, Va., Gazette says Governor Letcher has received his pardon.

A Tribune special says the Ways and Means Committee have agreed to an important amendment to the Tax bill in regard to whisky, providing, that all whisky offered for sale at a less price than the tax of $2 per gallon is to be seized and confiscated. Other stringent regulations are provided, which it is thought will effectually prevent the gross frauds which have been perpetrated.

A World special says the Sub-Finance Committee of the Senate have decided to submit a new loan certificate bill, based on one emanating from the Treasury Department.

The friends of the Bankrupt bill are hopeful of its passage. The return of several absent Senators will be awaited before it will be called up for another vote.

Senate—The first sworn evidence before the full Impeachment Committee was heard yesterday, and related to the President's exercise of the pardoning power.

FROM THE KOOTENAI COUNTRY.—Several parties have come in from the Kootenai country, and report that mining operations had been suspended for the winter. The work on the "big shaft," from which so much has been expected, had stopped, owing to the water wheel freezing fast. The water in the Kootenai country had been unusually mild, and miners are calculating upon an early spring. Provisions were in rather short supply, and as a consequence prices are ruling high. Flour is quoted at $50 per hundred; bacon $1 per pound; and other articles in proportion. About five hundred persons would winter in the mines; three-fifths of these are Chinamen. The gentleman from whom we derive the above expresses the opinion that during the last season Kootenai yielded at least one-third more gold than in any former year. He is sanguine that the coming season will show a still larger yield.—Walla Walla Statesman.

The Smith & Parmelee Company took out one hundred and forty-six ounces of gold last week. The Gunnell Company took out two hundred and twenty-three ounces, which is a very fine yield.—Colorado Register, Jan. 30th.

Two sleighs ran from Providence to Boston, a distance of forty-two miles, for a purse of $100, and the winner made the race in three hours and twenty-five minutes.

San Francisco, January 29.

Gold in New York yesterday was 134½ sterling, 108¾.

Senator Nye was serenaded last night after his return, and there is a large attendance at the banquet this evening.

Information has been received that Colonel Alonzo Ridley, a noted California secessionist, born in Maine, who was promoted by the French at Palos Prietes, before the fall of Mazatlan, was killed in a late battle in which the French were defeated, near Guadalajara.

The small steamer reported at Cape St. Lucas waiting to seize the Continental proves to have been the Mexican steamer Colon, commanded by Gaston D'Artois. Captain Shirley, of the Suwanee, took the D'Artois party off the Colon, took the vessel to Mazatlan and took the party there on the Suwanee, complaint having been made by the regular Captain and mate of the Colon that they were in fear of their lives and needed protection for themselves and for the owners of the steamer.

The Constitution to-morrow carries about 500 passengers.

A stone fort, to be garrisoned by 100 men, is being erected at El Dorado Canyon, Arizona, and a small detachment of troops is to be stationed at Callville to protect the Salt Lake goods stored there.

[From the Virginia Union.]

San Francisco, February 1.

G. Audibrot, a stock-broker of the firm of Koenig & Co., was arrested on board of the steamer Constitution, day before yesterday, just prior to her departure, on the charge of grand larceny, preferred by ex-Postal Agent Gaskell. The circumstances under which the charge was brought and arrest made, are as follows; Some time in December last Mr. Gaskell left with the firm of Koenig & Co. the sum of $8,665, in greenbacks, to be sold for his benefit, whenever the brokers in their judgment should deem the most favorable time to dispose of them. Mr. Gaskell then went up into the country, and, on his return was notified that the greenbacks had been sold, and that the coin proceeds of the sale were held by Koenig & Co., subject to his order. He drew $1,000 from them on his return, but next day he was taken sick. Several days afterwards, when he became convalescent, he went to the office of Koenig & Co. to draw the balance of his funds, but the place was deserted, signs removed, and appearances indicated that there had been a change in the affairs of the concern. He sought out and found Mr. Koenig, who made a frank statement of the case as follows: He stated that the firm had been speculating largely in mining stocks, which had rapidly depreciated in value, and his partner Audibrot had, without his knowledge, appropriated funds of Gaskell to meet private demands on the concern, but the joint capital of Gaskell and the firm were swallowed up in the crash. Gaskell then sought out Audibrot. Day before yesterday morning he searched the Panama mail steamer, and after a long investigation, found Audibrot concealed in a room in the lower cabin. An explanation was demanded, when Audibrot told a story in substance the same as was related by Koenig, stating that it was his intention to go to Havana, where he had friends who would advance him money with which to carry on business, and from there he proposed to remit to Gaskill the amount due him. Gaskill doubting his story, had him taken into custody. He had purchased a ticket for Panama in the name of G. Felix, and has also been known here by the name of Robles. It is generally believed that Koenig was innocent of all knowledge of the appropriation of Gaskill's money.

FROM HOT CREEK.—Mr. T. F. Gould, the agent of the Consolidated Company, arrived forms that the first lot of bullion produced by their mill, amounting to some 2,000 ounces, is on the road to this city. Work on the mines in the district is confined at present to the Old Dominion, Keystone and Susquehanna. The ore from which the bullion was obtained was taken from the first named ledges, and was reduced without roasting. This made of treatment is not advantageous, and he is now engaged in erecting furnaces for the mill of the company. Mr. Gould anticipates considerable activity in the district during the approaching season, as quite a number of its mines have been purchased by parties in the east, and agents are now on the way with the means for prosecuting work. One enterprise contemplates the erection of a mill for the Keystone and other mines.—Reese River Reveille, February 2d.

A CURIOUS CALCULATION.—A rapid penman can write 30 words in a minute. To do this he must draw his quill through the space of one rod—16½ feet. In 40 minutes his pen travels a furlong; and in 5½ hours one mile. We make, on an average, 16 curves or turns of the pen in writing each word. Writing 30 words in a minute, we must make 488 to each minute; in an hour, 28,800; and in a day of only five hours, 144,000; and in a year of 300 days, 43,200,000. The man who makes 1,000,000 strokes with a pen in a month has done nothing at all remarkable. Many men make 4,000,000.

Here we have in the aggregate a mark 300 miles long, to be traced on paper by each writer in a year. In making each letter of the ordinary alphabet we must make from three to seven strokes of the pen—on an average, three and a half to four.

Yesterday a wagon arrived in town with some two tons of ore from the Reveille District, which was carried to the Manhattan mill for reduction. The ore was procured from the ledges of two different companies in the district; one lot of 2,500 pounds having been taken from the Augusta and Santa Fe and mixed, and another of about 1,400 pounds coming from the mammoth Crescent ledge of the Reveille Company. All of the ledges are situated in the Reveille hill, the former on its west slope and the latter on its eastern slope. The ore is of high quality, particularly that from the Augusta and Santa Fe, great blocks of which show masses of horn silver. The estimated yield of the Crescent ore is $250, and that of the Augusta and Santa Fe is put at upwards of $500—low in both cases, as we believe.—R. B. Reveille, Feb. 2.

DEATH OF A STOCKTON PIONEER.—With feelings of the deepest regret we announce the death of J. Ling, one of California's pioneers, and for nearly seventeen years a resident of this city. His death took place, after a lingering illness, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ling came to California in 1849, having crossed the plains in that year, and early in 1850 became a resident of this city, where he has resided since that time. Deceased was an affable and kindhearted gentleman, faithful in the performance of every duty, generous and amenable in the extreme, and highly respected by all who knew him.—Stockton Independent, January 29th.

JUDGE BRYAN, in his charge to the Grand Jury of Charleston, a few days ago, said:

"From the character of one of the witnesses to be brought before you, you will realize the great change in our laws. The black man is now a competent witness, both by the laws of the United States and the legislation of our own State. You will accept his testimony and give that credit to it to which the intelligence and character of the party entitle it. As far as color is concerned, there is no distinction as to the competency of testimony."

IT is stated, says the Sacramento Union, that C. B. Porter, editor of the Contra Costa Gazette and Senator from Contra Costa and Marin, will be a candidate before the Union State Convention for Secretary of State.

FROM COMSTOCK.—The owners of the Burning Moscow an old location in the Cortes District, have just developed the ledge sixteen feet thick. It is situated at the foot of a hill in Crescent Valley, two miles southwest of the mill of the Mount Tenabo Company. They are now engaged in running a tunnel in the hill, which in the length of seventy-five feet will cut the ledge fifty feet below the surface. The ore from the large ledge is said to be of fair quality. We learn also that four men are employed in taking ore from the Taylor and Passmore—a location on the Nevada Giant, in Mount Tenabo—which will be delivered at one of our mills for reduction. The ore hitherto obtained from this mine yielded largely.—Reveille, February 2d.

A STRANGER COLOSSUS.—The Bangkok Recorder describes a visit to one of the wats or Bhuddist cloisters of the city, which covers ten acres of land, contains two temples, and has an image which far exceeds the Colossus of Rhodes in size. He is reclining on the right side, with his head resting on the right hand. He is one hundred and thirty-five feet long, about twenty-eight feet around the belt, and the length of the little toe on the right foot is three feet four inches. The natives say his bowels are full of large water jars. The labor of constructing and gilding this image must have been immense and have taken years to accomplish.

LARGE ESTATES.—Two wills were lately admitted to probate at St. Paul, Minnesota, which together disposed of real estate worth four to five million dollars. One was that of George W. Ewing, of Fort Wayne, Ind., the revenue stamps on which amounted to $425. The other was that of William G. Ewing, a brother of the first named, also of Fort Wayne. The amount of property disposed of by this will is between two and three millions. Mr. McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury, is one of the executors.

A LONDON policeman, having a claim for $750,000, applied to a lawyer to institute legal proceedings for its recovery. The lawyer took charge of the case, making it a condition that, in case of success, the claimant should give $125,000 to his poor relatives, and $225,000 to the London hospitals. The cause was gained, and the policeman has performed both conditions—considering the $500,000 left him an ample fortune to satisfy the wants of a man who for all his previous life had scarcely any fortune at all.

COMMENDABLE.—A dispatch to the Sacramento Bee says:

Dr. L. J. Henry yesterday tendered his professional services to the members of the San Francisco Typographical Union, free of charge, during the ensuing year. The offer was accepted by a unanimous vote.

PERSONAL.—Owing to the illness of Major General M. C. Meigs, Quartermaster General, Major General D. H. Rucker, A. Q. M. G., has been performing the duties pertaining to that office for several days past.—Washington Chronicle, January 29.

An Ice Boat Race.

A lively sixteen mile race took place yesterday between two boats of the Poughkeepsie Ice Boat Association. The affair was intended more for a reconnoitering expedition than a trial of speed, the leaders of the Association being anxious to ascertain which course was the best to sail over for the grand race for a service of silver. The two boats were the Haze and the Snow Flake. The time made was very good, when the fact of the terribly rough state of the ice is considered. Both boats left Poughkeepsie at three P. M., the Haze in the advance. Off Blue Point, three miles south of the starting point, the Snow Flake came up with her rival, and from there to Marlborough they ran comparatively side by side. From the last named point the helmsman of the Snow Flake put his boat directly into rough ice, leaping hummocks here, dashing into snow drifts there, and running from one side of the river to the other with fearful velocity, managing to keep a full mainsail all the while, and beating the Haze to Newburg dock at least four miles. Had the owner of the Haze risked his boat in the rough ice the distance would have undoubtedly been greatly lessened. The running time of the race, including the tacking from one side of the river to the other, was at least fifty miles an hour. On reaching Newburg one of the party on the Snow Flake desired to take the next up train back on the Hudson River Railroad. The Snow Flake carried him over, and on the return, while going at the rate of a mile a minute, carried away her rigging, the spar, shrouds, and all her standing rigging going to the leeward as quick as a flash of lightning. The occupants of the boat at the time of the accident were to the windward side of the vessel and thus escaped being hit. When the Haze arrived she ran down to the wreck and towed it to Newburg dock. A team of horses was soon procured and the vessel which met with the mishap was towed back to Poughkeepsie. The Haze also left at 5 and a half o'clock, beating back the sixteen miles against a light air of wind to the northward, the thermometer making zero, arriving home in good season. It would not be judicious to sail again to the southward, as the ice is altogether too rough in that direction. To-morrow some of the boats of the fleet will go to the northward, probably as far as Esopus Meadows, twelve miles from Poughkeepsie.—N. Y. Herald, January 16th.
